STATEMENT OF DR. PARMALY. We hear that Dr. Parmaly, Dentist, No. 30 Bond street, on the night of the murder was twice in the street,—once about $\frac{1}{2}$ o'clock, and a second time between 10 and 11 o'clock,—with a little dog of nis, that is something of a game dog. On the second time, returning home about 11 o'clock, as he thinks, he smelt something as of wool burning, and being peculiarly sensitive about fire, he was hurrying to his own house to ascertain if the smell came from that quarter, His dog, however, would not follow him, but obstituately persisted in snuffing and smelling at the door of No. 31 Bond street—(the Burdell House)—from whence the had to take him by force and in his arms. Dr. Parmaly then examined alte where Mrs Cunningpain s rounds now atown to be. It a that room, he (Dr. Parmaly) had often seen a man and woman, new known by him to be Mrs. Canningham and Mr. Eckel—but not then so known—who from their intimacy, he had no doubt were man and wife.

On this particular night there were persons in that core and a strange and neguliar light.—

The light was not that of a candle or of gas, but of paper, or some thing as luminous.

Dr. Parmuly declined going before the Coroner because of the "peculiar mode that functionary had of doing business—and as the testimony bu-

THE SCENE IN COURT WHEN MR. ECKEL AND MRS. CURNINGHAM WERE INDICTED. The crowd in the Court of General Sessions on Saturday continued to increase until 12 o'clock, the Grand Jury made their appearance, the room was thronged almost to suffocation. The winwas througed almost to sunocation. The windows had to be lowered for the admittance of fresh air, and the doors locked, to keep others from attempting to squeeze in. The Foreman gave a bundle of indictments to the Clerk, and asked that himself and colleagues might be dis-

Two indictments were then handed by the clerk to the Reporters, whose table was immediately surrounded by an immense crowd, anxious to learn what the Grand Jury had done in reference to the Bond street murder. They were informed that indictments had been found against Eckel and Mrs. Cuncingham, but they were baresatisfied with this, and kept their position for ialf an hour, while the reporters were copying

A BRUTAL WOMAN WHITPER.—A short, thick set man samed Joseph Downey, was brought up on a warrant by Pelicemon Rice and Coughlin for having cruelly beaten us wife. The woman was bruised horribly, and stated that he was accustomed to beat her, and strike and kick her ever, since they got married; and on being asked about the present cause of ar. est, said "he came home, and he took me with a rope, with a knot on the end of it, and he whipped me like a neeger, and says he I'd give you a silw and torturing death." This, too, will be a very lengthy case; and while these two cases are occupying the Court, all the prisoners in our jail, now ment have to be kept there at the exsense of the County. This state of things, in some manner, should be remedied; every person who has been in dicted is entitled to a speedy public trial, and on the other hand, the public of this County should not be subjected to the expense of maintaining those individuals in the County for a long time, when if they were tried they would be speedly sent to the Etste Prices or disobarged; in either event the County would except the gross expens

THE CARRIVAL—THE MASQUERADES.—The last night of the Carnival was one of unbounded merriment in our city. Three Masquerude Sails were in full blast, at the same time. At "the Albany" the Carnival Vereia held their facility.
